

August 17, 2010

RIBE – A Family-owned Company with Tradition and Innovation

RIBE is a family business that can look back on a more than 100-year tradition. Now RIBE group has become one of today's leading international suppliers of engineering design, products development, manufacturing and technical supports. Only for high-voltage lines, we have got over 300 registered patents. RIBE Electrical Fittings (Shanghai) Ltd was established on 7th Jan 2003. It is the subsidiary company of RIBE Germany.

RIBE Electrical Fittings (SH) Co.,Ltd was located in Jiading Industrial Zone .The business scope of RIBE SH is to develop, produce and distribute fittings of high-voltage overhead transmission lines, RIBE-OPTOFIT® (fittings for fiber optic cables) and catenary systems which are widely applied to OPGW/ADSS lines, transmission lines, communication lines and electric railway. Our specific helical electrical fittings have the advantages of easy installation, light abrasion, durability and optimizing the cost of life cycle. So far, there are about 35,000 km's power optical fiber cables which apply with RIBE's fittings. More than 10 river crossing projects including famous "The Three Gorges Crossing" apply with RIBE's fittings. In recent years, the promotion of our new fittings in the market has raised and pushed a revolution oriented by new concept. RIBE's products which are advanced wedge type tension clamp, helical tension clamp, helical suspension clamp and helical vibration damper have been operated on domestic lines. Construction companies and operation departments are always willing to recommend our products to customers.

RIBE is a family-owned business where tradition meets entrepreneurship and innovation. Our production management is strictly in accordance with national standard and industry standard. Our company has been certified to DIN EN ISO 9001 since 1995. RIBE products are all tested in RIBE Headquarter and official testing institutes in China A special corporate culture has developed from the close and open cooperation between the management team and employees, which is expressed on the market by a high degree of customer and quality orientation.

RIBE will enhance the cooperation with customers and provide reliable products in the future. We will continue to develop new product for the construction of China and global Electrical Power Industry.

